

THE INSTITUTE FOR HUMANE EDUCATION (IHE)

• educate others

• live your values

• become a solutionary

Put your vision for a just, humane, and healthy world into action.

AT THE HEART OF IHE

“ The online experience and the faculty catered to my specific learning needs and goals. Shouldn't that be the way learning always is? ”

Mike Johnston, middle school principal, United World Colleges

From graduate degrees to online resources, IHE programs and tools help you put your personal vision for creating a more just, humane, and sustainable world into action.

- online accredited graduate programs and degrees — the only global graduate program in comprehensive humane education (M.Ed., M.A. and certificate through an affiliation with Valparaiso University)
- online professional development courses for teachers, educators, advocates (CEUs offered)
- workshops, books, film festivals, and a comprehensive, online resource center (including activities, kits, and lesson plans for all ages)
- Solutionary Congress program for schools and educational settings everywhere.

BECOME A SOLUTIONARY

“ There is nothing more important than teaching kids to be kind, compassionate, and empowered solutionaries who realize their role in creating change. ”

Felice Clyne-Davis, 5th grade teacher, NYC

IHE helps educators teach their students to be solutionaries who will bring their knowledge and skills to bear to create positive system changes for all people, animals, and the earth.

IHE students, course participants, and alumni incorporate and apply what they learn into their lives, classrooms, workplaces, and communities. You will find kindred spirits if you are a(n):

- teacher (at every grade and subject), school leader, or curriculum developer
- educator within a cause-related nonprofit, NGO, business, or faith-based organization
- activist, social worker, artist, filmmaker, social entrepreneur, lawmaker, health care/holistic worker, or mindfulness/yoga instructor
- parent
- person concerned about creating a more just, peaceful, and healthy world

SOLUTIONARY CONGRESS PROGRAM

“ Our first Solutionary Congress was a success. This forum is a powerful way to experience humane education as a team, fight injustice, and heal our world. I look forward to getting more students involved in the program so they, too, can realize their responsibility and ability to create solutions that have far-reaching, positive effects in their local and global communities. ”

Shruti Kanna, Edgemont High School student, NY

Solutionary Education in Schools and Beyond

IHE's Solutionary Congress Program provides teams of young solutionaries—individuals able to address and solve real-world challenges—with the tools to create practical solutions to problems affecting people, animals, and the earth.

The Solutionary Congress Program can be implemented in schools and communities everywhere, enabling young people to become exceptional thinkers, engaged citizens, and collaborative problem-solvers who take action to protect our future.

After identifying, addressing, and implementing solutions to local, national, and global challenges, teams share their ideas and achievements at Solutionary Congresses with audiences comprised of school and community members, social investors, media, and legislators who can spread and further implement the best ideas for the benefit of all. It has the potential to generate exponential returns in the form of a vastly more humane and compassionate world.

When you do the most good and the least harm, you set in motion the forces that will make a healthy and humane future possible for generations.

Zoe Weil, IHE president and co-founder, whose inspiring TEDx talks, workshops, books, and articles help move IHE's mission forward

The Institute for Humane Education (IHE) is a nonprofit 501(c)3 organization founded in 1996. IHE educates about human rights, animal protection, environmental ethics, and culture as interconnected issues for a just, humane, and healthy world — creating solutionaries of all ages.
